DATA SOURCING & ANALYSIS SERVICES

Amicorp is specialized in the sourcing of data from various origins across the web, as well as analyzing, translating and handling of this data into the required format.

Today's data is used to solve business problems, to innovate better than competitors and to generate higher profits. With data mining and data extraction services, Amicorp is able to extract information out of unstructured or structured data and integrate this data in clients' systems. This ranges from legal data to financial data and each solution is tailored to the client's need.

By using automated scripts and/or manual searches, sourcing is executed and various data required by Amicorp's clients is being collected. If required this data can be translated, further analyzed and extracted to be prepared in the format which is required by the client and the client's systems.

Amicorp's data team is prepared to handle data in a wide variety of languages, including languages from all major Asian, (Latin) American and some European countries.

In addition to these services, Amicorp offers a unique scanning service which combines years of technological innovation with manual checks and balances to obtain 100% recognition. The streamlined process of the scanning service offers significant benefits for processing volumes of documentation, such as financial documents like invoices and bank statements and other documents like legal documents and forms.

For the scanning of the financial documents, we offer standard connections with a broad range of accounting packages, including cloud solutions. If required, the digitalized information can be completed with a booking proposal or an immediate booking.

We add value by offering you a simplified process, designed to minimize repetitive administrative tasks and focus on the end result. To keep pace with evolving platforms and formats, we also work with uploads of receipts/invoices made by a smartphone app.

Most of the Amicorp Outsourcing Services are rendered out of (ISO certified) offices in the Philippines and India. Client relationship managers are within reach in all the Amicorp offices and most offices have staff available to coordinate or even to execute a part of the work.

Contracts can be labor or seat based, transaction based or even goal based. Unlike other service providers, Amicorp is able to offer tailored and personalized high quality services, also for clients looking at a limited number of people involved.

Our clients benefit from around the clock services at a fraction of their current operating costs (savings of 50% can be achieved). The return-to-focus concept provides a dramatic bottom line impact that can help positively transform the economies of any business (including small and medium enterprises) and increase the efficiency of transaction execution.

Amicorp Outsourcing Services ensures value by enhanced process management, high standard service levels and substantial cost savings!
